

Community Announcement : Clear Hills Youth Treatment Centre

The Horse Lake First Nation Leadership Team is proud to announce that Horse Lake First Nation was successful in competing in an Alberta wide competition to be a First Nation host for an upcoming Youth Treatment Centre. The Request for Proposal Process to be the hosting Nation for the Treatment Centre had First Nations compete from all corners of Alberta. It is an honour to be chosen as the Nation host with such incredible and dedicated competitors.

There are many discussions and decision to be made over the next year. The Youth Treatment Centre will open April 2022 and be named Clear Hills Youth Treatment Centre. Over the next few months there will be many opportunities for Horse Lake First Nation community members, please see below on what's next:

- Future education and training programs to support employment at the Youth Treatment Centre;
- New employment positions; and
- Discussions to support establishing the Youth Treatment Centre.

The Horse Lake First Nation Leadership Team would like to thank everyone who has worked on the Alberta Wide competition, this includes community members, technicians, Elders, and Knowledge Keepers. This is one of many steps towards creating new opportunities for the members of Horse Lake First Nation.
